

Depressed Area Bill Signed Into a Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today signed into law a $304 million bill to aid areas depressed by unemployment and appointed William L. Batt Jr., Pennsylvania labor commissioner, to administer the program.

"There's no piece of legislation which has been passed that gives me greater satisfaction to sign," Kennedy said.

More than a score of senators and representatives from Pennsylvania, Illinois, West Virginia, Kentucky, Alabama and New York surrounded the President at his desk as he made the administration program effective.

Batt also was in the group that witnessed the signing. He will become administrator of what is formally called the Area Redevelopment Program.

Batt will head a new agency in the Commerce Department, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges also was present to watch the final step in turning one of the administration's top legislative proposals into law.

The act sets up a federal loan and grant program to try to attract industries into areas which have lost their main economic support and to retrain workers with obsolete skills.

It is aimed squarely at such situations as are found in hard hit coal, railroad and textile towns in states like West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

"The bill is the first of the 'Big Five' Kennedy measures to get through Congress. Others are school aid, minimum wage, housing, and health care for the aged.

Similar measures were killed by vetoes of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1958 and 1960.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., long-time sponsor of the legislation, piloted it through Congress for the third time this year with much less difficulty than previously because of the strong administration backing.

The depressed areas program will be handled through a new unit in the Commerce Department to be named the Area Redevelopment Administration.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said last Friday the new task would be pursued vigorously. He added he hoped the first redevelopment project could be approved in two to three months.

The bill authorizes: $100 million in loan funds for plants and other facilities, including machinery and equipment in some cases, in depressed industrial areas.

$100 million in loans for the same purposes in low-income rural areas.

$4.5 million for retaining workers in depressed areas.

$10 million for subsistence payments to workers undergoing retraining.

$4.5 million for technical help to communities in planning redevelopment programs.

The $300 million in loan funds would be obtained through direct advances from the Treasury.

These would be revolving funds which could be used over as loans are repaid.

The grant money would come through the regular appropriations process.

The plant loans could run for as long as 25 years, the public facility loans for 40. Under the formulas in the bill, plant loans would carry an interest rate of about 4 1/2 per cent, public facility loans 3 1/2 per cent.

The federal plant loans would be limited to 65 per cent of the cost of a redevelopment project. At least 10 per cent would have to come from a state or local community, and at least 5 per cent from a nongovernmental source.

Nobody was seriously injured although one passenger suffered two broken ribs and another a cut on the leg. One of the passengers had to be dug out from under the car. Man Charged in Embezzlement

SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP) — Max W. Nunn, 50, who pleaded guilty last week at Harrison of obtaining money by false pretense, is scheduled to appear in Grant County Circuit Court today to face an embezzlement charge.

Nunn is accused of embezzling $16,000 which was used to build a plastic toy factory here but which never went into operation. At a trial in Harrison, Nunn was found guilty of obtaining money falsely for a stock transaction and was sentenced to six years in prison.

He also faces similar charges in Little Rock, Russellville, Fort Smith, Conway, Trenton, Tenn., and Abilene, Tex.

Nunn was apprehended in Tennessee in February 1960 but fought against being returned to Arkansas. However, he surrendered himself to Sheridan authorities several months ago and was released on bond.

Production Up 7 Times at Electronic Enterprises

J. A. SMITH, MANAGER ELECTRONIC ENTERPRISES, a growing industry in the former Southwestern Proving Ground Area.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Half of Hope's employed population work in local industry. How these plants are doing today means more to local prosperity than nationwide figures or government statements. This is the second of a series of Star interviews with industry heads in Hope.

Out in the former Southwestern Proving Ground where the Hope community salvaged some of the former war facility as a site for new peacetime industry there is one plant that is "going to town" in a fabulous way.

It is Electronic Enterprises, a division of Missouri Research Laboratories, St. Louis, which started out here as Great Southwest Parts Rebuilders, Inc., in 1949.

A year ago Electronic Enterprises was producing 175 units per week. Today it is producing 1,200—an increase of nearly seven times.

A year ago the firm employed 15 persons; today it is working 47, an increase of three times—and four times in payroll dollars, because of overtime pay, J. A. Smith, manager of Electronic Enterprises, told The Star this week-end.

The company rebuilds automotive generators, starters, and starter drives; and rebuilds automotive armatures.

Currently it is planning an expansion program which will put the local plant into the business of rebuilding automotive water pumps, clutch plates, fuel pumps, and carburetors, Mr. Smith said.

The 12-year growth of Electronic Enterprises has been outstanding, Mr. Smith commented, pointing out that during this period the parent company has closed two other plants—at Okolona, Miss., and Falmouth, Ky.—and consolidated their facilities in the local factory.

No Intervention Plans in Cuba Rusk Assures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk assured investigating senators today the United States has no plans for armed intervention in Cuba.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Rusk made this clear during three hours of closed door interrogation by the Latin-American Affairs Subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Morse, the subcommittee chairman, reported Rusk made an able, factual "and open-breasted" statement concerning this country's role in the ill-fated invasion of Cuba.

Morse quoted Rusk as saying the invasion was made by the Cuban refugees themselves, but that they did have arms, financial and training assistance from the United States.

Rusk was the leadoff witness in the subcommittee's effort to pin down the extent of U.S. involvement in the Cuban invasion.

He will be followed later this week by Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

15 HD Club Women Take Training

Home demonstration club home furnishings leaders met for a training meeting in the home of Mrs. J. O. Luck last week. Fifteen women were present representing ten clubs. These leaders will be in charge of the May club programs on flower arranging.

Mrs. Luck had charge of the meeting which she opened with prayer. She then explained some history in flower work which is centuries old. The women were encouraged to use their imagination in creating flower arrangements that are pleasing to them.

She used the ten commandments for flowers in the home to outline her very excellent discussion. She had various types of containers and mechanics to show the group. Many lovely arrangements were displayed throughout the home.

Refreshments were served and the group enjoyed a tour of the home and lawn at the close of the meeting.

Those present and the clubs they represent were: Mrs. Ivan Bright, Rocky Mount; Mrs. Gordon Prescott, McCaskill; Melrose; Mrs. C. J. Barnes; Homestead; Mrs. David McKee; Centerville; Mrs. William Altom; Shover Springs; Mrs. Robert Otwell; Hinson; Mrs. Jimmy Griffin and Mrs. J. The second year of the Junior Auxiliary came to a close Wednesday, April 26 under the leadership of the president, Mrs. George Robison.

Officers were elected for the forthcoming year: president, Mrs. George Wright; vice-president, Mrs. James W. Branch; secretary, Mrs. R. L. Broach; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. M. LaGrone; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Seamans.

Mrs. Wright will announce chairman of committees immediately in order that plans will be made for projects next year.

The Junior Auxiliary will sponsor Miss Jan Reinhardt, daughter of one of its members, Mrs. W. M. Reinhardt, and Mr. Reinhardt to Girls State.

Charles Gough, director of the Hope Parks and Recreation Commission, gave a report of the outstanding youth program. This program has become so broad that it has gained more than statewide attention. Last year the auxiliary provided the salary for a young woman who directed summer activities at the Youth Center. This year $300 has been donated to help take care of the salaries of the additional summer college assistance in the youth program.

The new officers together with other members will attend the convention of the National Association of Junior Auxiliaries to be held May 4 and 5 at the Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi, Mississippi.

U.S. Re-Affirms Aid to Pro-West Leaders in Laos

By JOHN GRIFFIN

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—U. S. support was pledged to the pro-Western government and W. Averell Harriman declared today any delay in a cease-fire "is squarely up to Premier Khrushchev and he must bear responsibility for it."

Harriman, roving ambassador for President Kennedy, came here from two days of conferences in the royal capital of Luang Prabang, where he and Cambodia's neutralist chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, pressed for moves to establish a cease-fire as a first step toward peace.

Harriman told a news conference the United States is doing everything possible to promote the cease-fire but will continue to stand behind the government in the Laotian civil war.

Sihanouk told reporters in Vientiane earlier in the day that King Savang Vathana opposes a 14-nation peace conference on Laos, a stand that might throw up another roadblock to a cease-fire.

Without elaboration, Sihanouk said in view of the King's position he now feels there is "a worse chance for peace."

But Harriman said the Laotian government of Premier Boum Oum and the United States both still favor the 14-nation conference after a cease-fire.

Sihanouk said he is withdrawing his sponsorship because King Savang Vathana opposed anything but a settlement among the Laotians themselves.

Sihanouk told a news conference in Vientiane that the king insisted the Laotian factions must settle their problems themselves. He said for this reason he is withdrawing his invitation to the warring factions to meet at his capital of Phoum Penh.

In deference to the king, he said he was withdrawing both Cambodia's sponsorship of the 14-nation conference at Geneva and the invitation to Phoum Penh.

Sihanouk told reporters that at the urging of foreign diplomats, he had a number of peace suggestions at Luang Prabang. One was for India to send the international control commission to Laos at once, to work with both sides on arrangements for the cease-fire.

He said he had received word that India's Prime Minister Nehru had agreed to this. India is chairman of the commission. Red Poland and Canada are members.

Word was awaited from government envoys who are trying to make contact with the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels on the front 45 miles north of Vientiane to discuss a cease-fire.

The rebels proposed the no man's land area for the meeting but showed no sign of slackening their military drive.

May Day One of Politics in Red Nations

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

May Day was turned into a political celebration today in Communist capitals. Festivities in Moscow set the pace for the traditional workers' holiday by featuring Maj. Yuri A. Gagarin, the Soviet astronaut.

Gagarin stood alongside Premier Khrushchev on the Red Square reviewing stand to watch a three-hour parade, only nine minutes of which was taken up with a military show.

Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, Soviet defense minister, boasted of the "most up-to-date means of warfare" for the Soviet armed forces. Gagarin also praised the Communist system in a broadcast.

Peiping radio reported three million Chinese turned out for rallies in the Communist capital. Foreign Minister Chen Yi appealed for greater unity at home and in "the Socialist camp of the international Communist movement."

Cubans turned out for rallies to hail what Prime Minister Fidel Castro now calls his "Socialist" revolution. Moscow awarded the Cuban prime minister the Lenin peace prize in time for the celebration.

Ernesto Guevara, Cuban economic chief, outlined a four-year plan to develop the island republic's resources and said it would depend heavily on support from Communist countries.

In Berlin, another potential East-West point of conflict, goose-stepping soldiers and Soviet tanks paraded in the Communist sector of the city in defiance of a Big Four agreement barring German troops in the divided city.

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin told a rally of an estimated 700,000 that the Communist military demonstration "is an expression of what the German nation wants." His voice was carried across the East-West border by loudspeakers.

President Tito reviewed a 3 1/2-hour parade in Belgrade marking the 20th anniversary of Yugoslavia's revolution, which was started by his partisans under the Nazi occupation.

Soviet rocketry featured Budapest's parade. Several hundred thousand Hungarians straggled along behind a 20-foot mockup of a Soviet rocket atop the globe. Balloons were set loose carrying cardboard rockets.

Several million Japanese turned out at May Day rallies, where the speakers demanded closer relations with Communist China. Some workers carried papier mache heads of Castro and Patrice Lumumba, the slain Congo leader.

About 10,000 turned out in Naha, capital of the U.S.-administered island of Okinawa. This was far short of the number hoped for by the organizers.

Rallies were also held in South Viet Nam and the Nationalist Chinese island of Formosa. The meetings there were keynoted by anti-Communist speeches.

In the Vatican, Pope John XIII held a special May Day audience and told 25,000 visitors the Roman Catholic Church has "always supported the moral and economic progress of man."

Workers in much of Western Europe and parts of Latin America and Asia had the day off. In the United States the workers holiday is Labor Day, celebrated in September.

He is now the assistant organist at the First Methodist Church in Arkadelphia, and plans to continue his studies in the fall at the University of Michigan.

The public is cordially invited to attend this concert which will be the club's contribution to National Music Week.

Rubinoff Has Played All Over World

Some of America's largest cities have turned out recording-breaking audiences to welcome Rubinoff, world-famous radio and concert artist, and his famous $100,000 Stradivarius violin. One record-breaking audience, thrilled by Rubinoff and his violin, was in Chicago's famous Grant Park several years ago, when more than 150,000 gathered to hear him play. However, this great crowd responded one year later 225,000 strong, at which time the great artist was presented with a bejeweled medal inscribed, "Presented to Rubinoff and his Violin by the Chicago Federation of Musicians."

The presentation was made in appreciation for services rendered in Grant Park. The attendance was recorded as a world record attendance.

Because of the great popularity of this artist reservations for this concert should be made at once to avoid "standing room only," as it is not unusual for Rubinoff to play to packed houses.

Tickets for the Rubinoff Concert are now available at First National Bank, Citizens National Bank, Ward & Son Drug Store, Cox Drug Store, Ladies Specialty Shop, Foster's Shoe Store, and the ladies clubs of the city.

Preferred seats will be sold in the first come first serve preference. Date of the concert is Friday, May 5, at the High School auditorium and is being sponsored by the Rotary Club.

Bride Walks Out on Her Husband

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A bride walked out on her husband on their wedding night because he was not the handsome man to whom she had been introduced by a matchmaker. He turned out to be the supposed groom's younger brother whom she described as plain ugly.

Miss Chung Niang-mei of Hsiunglin, northern Formosa, offered her disappointed husband her entire savings, equivalent to $87.50, for an uncontested divorce, which in Formosa is easily arranged if there is mutual consent. The husband agreed.

Weathers Stroke, Continues Cruise

GENOA, Italy (AP) — Mrs. Irene Connelly of Little Rock, who weathered a mild stroke while aboard ship on a world cruise last week, continued to Southampton, England, today and planned to go to Amsterdam after that.

Mrs. Connelly, a 70-year-old widow, told a newspaper here she would continue her cruise until it ends in Miami, Fla., next month. From there she will fly home to Little Rock. Her two sisters, who are accompanying her on the cruise, will remain in Florida for a vacation.

She suffered the stroke after the Orange, a Dutch ship, left Ceylon. The Orange arrived in Genoa Sunday and left to Southampton at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Syd McMath left Saturday for Boston, Mass., to visit their son, Sydney. Some side trips in the area are also planned.

Mrs. B. N. Holt and Mrs. James McLaughlin went to the state Delta Kappa Gamma meeting in Little Rock this weekend, and were accompanied by Mrs. Bill Brashier.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ellen of Little Rock spent the weekend with Mrs. Bess Evans.

Mrs. Bess Evans attended a workshop for music teachers last Friday in Texarkana conducted by Eric Steiner, pianist, teacher, and composer of New York City.

Sondra Sharon Russell

The 1961-62 Sweetheart of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity at Henderson State Teachers College is Sondra Sharon Russell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Russell of Hope. She is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority and sophomore representative to the student council.

Spragins (Hyatt) ever sang in public, and the other, "The Daisy Chain," was composed by Miss Spragins while a student at Randolph Macon.

Mrs. Ed Ogram's home was the scene of the meeting. Her co-hostess was Mrs. Jim Shuffield. As the guests arrived, they were served cookies, coffee, and cold drinks. Gorgeous roses graced the home. The president, Mrs. V. R. Herndon, Jr., opened the meeting and conducted the business during which Mrs. Talbot Feild, Jr., district president, reported on the success of the district music festival in Camden.

Mrs. Jim Shuffield told the history of "Crown Him With Many Crowns" by Matthew Bridges, the Hymn of the Month. Then, all joined in singing it, accompanied by Mrs. B. C. Hyatt at the organ. Program chairman for the month was Mrs. George Frazier, who used the club theme, Let All My Life Be Music, as the basis of her program. Mrs. Hyatt was presented a white carnation corsage and placed in a seat of honor while her life was sketched. Pictures were made throughout the program.

The 25 attending the club meeting included three guests, Mrs. Hill, Miss Judy Gardner, and Mrs. Ralph Emerson, and one associate member, Mrs. E. P. Young, Jr.

Coming and Going

Mrs. Trixie Bryant and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ellis had as their guest over the weekend Mrs. Bryant's son Jerry Gilbeaux and his wife Virginia and son Jerry II all of Orange, Texas.

Castro Well Pleased With Big Parade

By LUIS DE LA HABLA

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) - A smiling Fidel Castro looked on with obvious pleasure today while masses of Cubans marched and sang in what was described as the first May Day celebration in the Western Hemisphere "with the working class in power."

The bearded Cuban prime minister watched thousands of his countrymen troop through an "arch of triumph" topped with a big white peace dove and the legend:

"Toward the union of all the workers of the world."

A Havana telecast picked up here showed Castro scanning the throng with a pair of field glasses, smoking his ever present cigar and chatting and smiling with others on the reviewing stand.

Huge banners bore pictures of Castro and Karl Marx, founder of communism.

Castro, like many others at the gigantic rally, wore a big red kochief around his neck.

Six television cameras showed floats and banners with slogans tashing the United States as an imperialistic aggressor and the Catholic Church as the "parrot of imperialism."

Commentators said the Soviet Union's ambassador to Cuba was among the dignitaries with Castro on the presidential reviewing stand.

The parade, scheduled from early morning till late at night, included marching militiamen, Czech-made anti-aircraft guns, children with balloons, workers and farmers.

An announcer said the people of Havana had been celebrating all night and that "it reminds one of New Year's Eve."

Few military weapons were seen in the parade. It had been announced that troops were being kept on the alert against the possibility of another invasion such as the one Castro's regime crushed last week.

TO HAVE AND TO KILL

By Robert Martin Copyright © 1960 by Robert Martin Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: Curious and assorted guests have arrived for Max Dane's wedding. Besides the bride, Miss Laura Reynolds, there is Julius Stockmaster, a writer, and his secretary William Darnody, both deaf mutes; Mrs. Augusta Dane, Max's mother who opposes the wedding; Dixie McQueen, a former girl friend who wasn't expected and who is posing as a sister to Sandra Hollis, and Jim Bennett, a private detective and his secretary, Sanda.

CHAPTER XIII

I stepped back a little and observed, fascinated. Stockmaster was devouring her with his hands, body and mouth and she was fully reciprocating. It was embarrassing, but still I watched. I was a Peeping Tom, but I didn't worry about it. The scene was of clinical interest to me. I wondered what Max Dane would think about it. Should I tell him? Or maybe there are some things one does not tell to a friend. Then I thought that perhaps I was an outdated fuddy-duddy and should mind my own business anyway. I turned and was about to sink away when I heard a voice, a man's voice.

Startled, I swung back and peered into the library from an oblique angle where the couple could not see me unless they changed position. The voice said, "You can't do it." I earned my neck so that I could see the rest of the room.

There was no other man there. I had not really expected to see one, because they would not embrace so intimately if they had not thought they were alone. Then the voice spoke again, a deep voice which held a menacing note. "I won't let you."

Julius Stockmaster, the deaf-mute, had spoken. His bushy hair seemed to be standing straight up and his square jaw jutted outward. "You love me," he said.

It was like watching a play on a lighted stage. "Julius," she said, "you're hurting me."

"I'll kill you before I let you marry him."

She laughed, but it sounded strange and a little hysterical to my attentive ears. Once more she tried to free herself, but he held her firmly. "Stop it," she said sharply. "I wouldn't have asked you to come here if I had known you were going to behave like a - a jealous schoolboy. But I wanted you here, do you understand? This doesn't mean anything - I've told you and told you. Nothing will be changed. We can still see each other."

"Sure," he said bitterly, "by sneaking around. I don't want that anymore - I told you in Sarasota. Why this big wedding deal to that soda pop punk?"

She struggled in his grasp and he released her and they stood facing each other, oblivious to everything but each other.

"You make it sound cheap," she said. "You know my money is all gone. I can't live without it, lots and lots. More than you have, more than you'll ever have."

"And the Soda Pop Kid has it?"

"You bet."

"It's just the money, then?" he asked miserably.

"Certainly. I thought you understood."

He moved a hand helplessly. "Then why didn't you stay married to Ted Phillips? He had money - enough even for you."

Her voice was still cold. "It was your fault, Julius. I warned you that Ted was suspicious, but you were drunk and wouldn't listen. And Ted walked in on us."

He nodded glumly.

"You'll never be anything, Julius," she said, pouring it on. "You just waste those stupid novels which never make enough money for you, let alone the two of us. After the honeymoon - I hope the expression does not pain you - I'll see what can be done about you, about us."

"After the Soda Pop Kid," he said thickly. And then he raised his hand lazily and then suddenly and not lazily at all, but swiftly and viciously, he swung his hand downward and I heard the crack as the palm struck her cheek. She stumbled away with a small cry, caught her balance and whirled, a hand to her cheek.

"You've got to stop that, Julius." She spoke in a low voice.

He stood swaying, grinning at her loosely.

"I still have the gun," she said, "the one you gave me. You made me promise to use it if you started this sort of thing again. Remember?"

"Forget that. I would never hurt you."

"Oh, yes you would. You have," "I'm sorry," he said. "It's because I love you, Laura, baby, sweet, I'll do anything. I'll go on the wagon. I'll write a really good book and it will sell and you'll have everything you want. I promise, Laura, I promise."

"I hate you when you're like this."

"How do you like me when I'm like this?" He reached for her, pulled her against him and to my amazement she made no resistance. On the contrary, she cooperated fully and they kissed as if it were their death hunger.

It was where I had come in. I turned and left quietly.

Club Women Plan Fashion Review Tues.

In observing National Home Demonstration Week, April 30 to May 6, the Hempstead County Council is sponsoring a Spring Fashion Review. The review is open to the public and there will be no charge. It will be held at the Saenger Theater on Tuesday afternoon, May 2, at 2:00.

The Home Demonstration Women will be modeling the latest fashions from the local stores as well as the dresses they made themselves. Haskell Jones will narrate the program which will be grouped into three divisions: the dressy dresses, the street dresses, and the casual dresses or sportswear. The local stores furnishing the clothing to be modeled will also furnish door prizes for a drawing at the close of the show. Those women modeling outfits they fashioned themselves will be competing for some prize money furnished by equipment and feed stores of Hope.

Thirty-eight women will be taking part in this Spring Fashion Review. The public is cordially invited and encouraged to attend to see this lovely combination of clothing available in Hope's local stores as well as the clothing that can be fashioned and sewed at home.

Orioles Slam Detroit in Nightcap Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In the American League yesterday the Baltimore Orioles rocked Paul Foytack for three straight home runs in the seventh to score a 4-2 victory after Detroit rallied to win the opener of the doubleheader 3-2.

The homers in succession were hit by Jim Gentile, Gus Triandos and Ron Hansen and tied a major league record held by numerous clubs.

Roy Sievers' two-run homer in the 11th inning clinched a three run rally that gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins. Bob Shaw went the route for Chicago.

The Washington Senators broke a four-game losing streak by beating the New York Yankees 2-1 in the nightcap after dropping the opener 4 to 3. Rookie Roland Sheldon, making his first big league start, pitched well though he lost the nightcap. Whitey Ford scored his third victory while hard luck Dick Donovan suffered his fourth straight defeat.

The Kansas City Athletics scored a 3-2 victory after the Los Angeles Angels won the first game of a twin bill 6 to 4. Pinch hitter Leon Wagner supplied the big blow for the Angels in the first game. Al Pizarro's double and Lampe's single won the nightcap.

Highlights in History Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1898, Commodore George Dewey led his fleet into Manila Bay. Dewey made 5 passes at the Spanish warships and when the smoke of battle cleared, the Spanish fleet was wrecked. It was in this battle that Dewey issued oft-quoted command: "You may fire when ready, Gridley."

In 1893, the Columbian Exposition opened in Chicago.

In 1894, Coxey's army of unemployed reached Washington.

In 1901, the Pan American Exhibition opened in Buffalo, N.Y.

In 1941, Winston Churchill announced that 50,000 British troops had escaped from the Battle of Greece.

In 1944, Soviet Premier Stalin issued a May Day order calling for a combined allied effort to crush Germany.

Ten years ago, Radio Free Europe opened a station in Munich, Germany, to broadcast anti-communist propaganda.

Five years ago U.N. Secretary General Hammarskjöld conferred in Jerusalem with Israeli leaders on enforcement of a cease-fire between Israel and Syria.

Girl Shot and Killed by Boy

MOORE'S FORKS, N. Y. (AP)—A teen-age girl was shot and killed Sunday night by an ex-boy friend who flew into a jealous rage when he saw her out with another boy, state police said today.

Betty Ann Davison, 17, was shot twice with a rifle by Charles Duscharme, 20, a farm laborer, in this Clinton County community five miles from the Canadian border, state police said.

Duscharme was being sought by police.

BUYERS SHOULD STUDY BOAT'S PERSONALITY

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Personality is part of a boat. Oldtime sailors long ago decided the sailing ship had a woman's temperament and called her "she" accordingly. Today's power and sail pleasure craft have behavior traits too, and need equal pampering from the prudent skipper.

A small fast power boat, particularly, requires the boatman to learn her characteristics and run her with the careful skill that is called seamanship. For the novice looking for a new boat this spring and the old sailor re-checking the performance of his boat as well, here are six quick tests that we find can help reveal how temperamental a hull may be:

Study her appearance. Narrow width and shallow draft, like a canoe, can indicate a hull that is fast but may tip easily. A good look at the lines of a new boat comes first.

Next, step aboard and test how tender she may be. If she tips easily, your equipment aboard must be placed to keep her level and passengers should be seated along the center line and kept sitting down.

Then let someone else run the boat while you watch her perform. At normal speeds she should provide a level ride without the bow lifting high or plowing deep in the water. A change in outboard motor angle or position of passengers can usually correct this.

Now run her yourself. Does she slap the waves and pound as she meets them, or tend to porpoise up and down? Ballast shifts, again, may correct this if the hull design is basically sound.

Slow the boat as if you suddenly saw a log ahead. Does a following wave try to crawl aboard with you? Be certain that your transom cutout and that the outboard well will prevent sudden swamping from astern. Otherwise, make a note as well to stay away from exposed waters and higher speeds.

Turns can be your commencement exercise for simple hull performance. A planing hull may lean into a turn or skid around it, but she should not try to swap ends or trip and throw you out of the boat. Nearly any small hull can flip at high speeds in violent maneuvers.

By running tests such as these you can learn the feel of a boat, and what you can safely try with her. Even a beginner can soon tell if she is a boat he would want to buy.

Tornado Hits Briefly at Tontitown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms roared across Arkansas Sunday night. Most of the state got heavy rain, wind and hail. A small tornado brushed the ground near Tontitown, destroying a trailer home.

No one was reported injured. There were no reports of heavy damage, but Washington County Sheriff Hollis Spencer said damage to early crops might be heavy.

A tornado forecast expired in northwest Arkansas at 10:30 p.m. Sunday with only the Tontitown twister reported Southwest and west Arkansas was under a severe thunderstorm alert and less serious thunderstorms were predicted for the rest of the state Sunday night and today.

The small funnel set down about five miles east of Springdale, on the outskirts of Tontitown, and wrecked a trailer owned by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Danford. No one was home. The Danfords had gone to the nearby home of Ray Danford, Warren's brother.

Telephone and electric service was disrupted in part of northwest Arkansas Harrison, Berryville and Green Forest were without lights for a short time Harrison's Civil Defense radar unit operated on emergency power, watching for tornadoes.

Spencer, who described the Tontitown storm as a twister, said hailstones in the Fayetteville area measured up to a half inch in diameter. "The trees just look stripped after that hail," he said.

A squall line swept across the state from the northwest last Sunday night Little Rock got a heavy thunderstorm with hail at midnight.

Woman's Head Found in Bag

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP)—Three boys found the head of a woman wrapped in a plastic bag when they bicycled past a tomato field Saturday.

Police, unable so far to identify the woman, said the head had been struck six times with a sharp instrument.

Coroner Raymond Brandt said the woman had been slain less than 12 hours. The body was not found.

AP&L Revenue Up $4 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The annual report of Arkansas Power & Light Co. shows the company's total revenue for 1960 was $67 million, a $4 million increase over the previous year.

The report showed AP&L's net income reached $10,755,000 for the year. This was $4 million higher than in 1959.

The report noted that among the company's expansion program, a 230,000-volt transmission line from Pine Bluff to a new steam generating plant near Helena was built at a cost of $6 million.

Plans for selling $12 million in bonds this month to help finance the $20.2 million 1961 construction program were announced in the report which was mailed to stockholders last week.

AP&L customers increased by 4,800 to 301,000. Total operating expenses amounted to $29.8 million, with $14.6 million being set aside for taxes and $13.3 million issued in payrolls.

A 2 per cent decrease in energy sales was reported. This was principally because of reduced power usage at aluminum plants.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—More than 50,000 Arkansans this week begin a series of discussions on the past, present and future of the state's social and economic structure.

Developed by the University of Arkansas Agricultural Extension Service and labeled the "Arkansas Future Series," the discussion program delves into the whys of Arkansas' development to this point and the hows of future development.

The discussion will be conducted by groups of six to 12 under a discussion leader County agents and home demonstration agents in the various counties are coordinating the program.

"We originally set our goal at 10 discussion groups in each county," said Kenneth S. Bates, assistant extension director. "Then we raised this to 20 and now we're shooting for 50 groups in each of the 75 counties."

Bates said more than 55,000 "Arkansas Future Fact Kits" have been dispatched to county offices.

"These fact kits take a look at the threat of economic development and social improvement in the state," Bates said. "They are directed at the total population. We hope we can help Arkansans in all walks of life to understand their state better."

The program is designed to encompass four weekly discussions and the Extension Service hopes all groups hold their first session this week.

The Fact Kits have a separate brochure for each discussion and each brochure has a questionnaire for participants to use in noting suggestions as to how the state can better itself.

The brochures are titled: "Arkansas Future."

They trace the rural to urban population trend, the disappearance of the small, family type farm, increasing industrialization and the factors which have changed the economic and social picture of the state.

"The carefully designed fact sheets are insurance that useful discussion will take place without trained leaders," said Extension Director C. A. Vines. "This has been proved in major programs organized through other extension services."

The Arkansas Future Series sprang from a seminar attended by Extension Service personnel in Ohio last year. Bates said representatives from Arkansas, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Missouri and Iowa worked together in devising such a program.

Questionnaires filled in by discussion participants will be returned to extension offices here for study and evaluation.

Marvin Mellon, president of the state Chamber of Commerce, is one of many civic leaders who have endorsed the program.

"I've studied the Arkansas Future material and I think it is excellent," Mellon said. "The Extension Service is to be commended for taking the initiative in presenting this factual material to the people and encouraging us to review the facts."

"This series makes me think more strongly that the image of Arkansas can be changed for a better future."

Navy to Launch a Huge Balloon

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—The Navy plans to make a fourth try Thursday to launch a huge manned balloon from the deck of the aircraft carrier Antietam.

Three previous attempts were called off because of bad weather high above the launch area in the Gulf of Mexico about 100 miles out from Pensacola.

Thunderstorm activity aloft was blamed for postponement of today's scheduled ascent. Strong winds in the upper atmosphere caused the other delays.

Willie Mays hit four homers and drove in eight runs as the San Francisco Giants tied or broke four long distance slugging records Sunday in defeating Milwaukee 14 to 4.

Ten homers were hit, eight by the Giants, but Mays stole the show. His four blasts put him in the select company of eight other players including Lou Gehrig.

Mays hit two homers off loser Lew Burdette and one each off of Seth Morehead and Don McMahon. Two counted for two runs each, another three and carried 450 feet.

The Philadelphia Phillies defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 11-7 in ten innings when Johnny Callison singled home Bobby J. Greco with the winning run. It was the second loss for Larry Jackson.

Bob Purkey snapped the eight game losing streak of Cincinnati with a 4-2 victory of Pittsburgh after the Pirates had won the opener 6 to 3. Purkey allowed only six hits. Bob Friend won his fourth game in the opener although Roy Face had to bail him out in the ninth.

Los Angeles split a doubleheader with Chicago, the Dodgers taking the opener 2-1 and Cubs taking the nightcap 10-5.

Uneasy Peace Has Returned to Galveston

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—An uneasy peace returned to this Gulf of Mexico resort city today following a weekend of rioting by thousands of thrill-seeking youths who flocked here for the opening of the tourist season.

Police counted more than 700 youths, many of them college students, arrested. Two persons died in traffic accidents.

Officers armed with shotguns and accompanied by trained dogs from the Houston police department rounded up 51 youths Sunday night at a dance hall and a drive-in restaurant after a shot was fired. No one was hurt. The arrested youths were hustled off to jail.

The arrests climaxed a comparatively quiet day during which an estimated 100,000 persons lined the main street to watch a parade of floats carrying bathing beauties entered in the Miss Splash Day contest. Thousands played in the surf and sunbathed on the five-mile long beach.

The trouble started Friday night in fights along the beach front among 3,000 college students from Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana and thousands of other youngsters who had gathered here for the weekend. An estimated 250 policemen from neighboring cities and Texas Rangers were rushed here to restore order.

More than 500 youths were arrested Friday night as officers waded into the rock-throwing youths. Several shots were fired but no one was hurt. Scores were treated for cuts and bruises.

Another 150 youths were arrested Saturday night for unlawful assembly.

Police Commissioner Walter B. Rourke said the city collected about $14,000 in fines over the weekend.

George L. Windsheimer, a reserve officer of the Harris County sheriff's department who had been sent here to help quell the riots, died in a two-car traffic accident Saturday night.

James T. Brandford, 20, of Galveston was killed in a car accident following Sunday's parade. Three other youths were injured.

The flower trade began in Britain's Scilly Isles in 1881 when a consignment of blossoms was shipped to London in a woman's hat box. Soon the islands were sending 65 tons of flowers a year to the mainland.
